

FEATURED CONTRACTOR · BAYSIDE, NEW YORK

Do It Right the First Time

A young Queens roofing company whose owner is on the roof, not behind a desk, and whose customers say he tells them the truth even when it costs him a sale.

BY RACHEL NICOLE

“He found a serious issue with my garage roof and instead of just putting a new roof on, corrected the issue,” Mary G. wrote in an October 2026 Google review of REVMA. “This shows his integrity and honesty.” She wrote that owner Stavros Latos walked her through every step and showed her every material.

Daniel L. wrote that after calling six companies, REVMA was the only one that picked up right away, and that the owner came out the same day.

Founded in 2023, the company holds a perfect 5.0 Google rating across 63 reviews, an A+ BBB rating with no complaints and a 9.3 out of 10 in ARCO’s 2026 evaluation.

That record earned REVMA ARCO accreditation in the Class of 2026. Congratulations, Stavros, and the whole REVMA crew.

On the roof, not behind a desk. REVMA is owned and run by Stavros Latos, and the company's website says he is on the roof, not behind a desk. Customers know him as Stavros, Stavro or Steve.

Every estimate, himself. According to the company, Stavros walks every estimate himself, explains what he finds in plain language and hands homeowners a scope they can read: what comes off, what goes on, and why.

Founded in 2023. ARCO records list the company's founding year as 2023. It is licensed in New York City (DCWP) and Westchester County and is GAF certified for commercial roofing.

Roofs across four boroughs and beyond. REVMA replaces and repairs roofs, including asphalt shingle, natural and composite slate, cedar, metal and flat roofs, across Queens, the Bronx, Brooklyn, Nassau County and Westchester.

Name on every roof. The company says Stavros goes the extra mile because his name is on every roof, and that he chases permits and landmarks approvals so homeowners do not have to.

REVMA · ABOUT US

FEATURED CONTRACTOR · IN THEIR WORDS

“His Name Is on Every Roof”

On the philosophy. “The philosophy is simple: do it right the first time.”

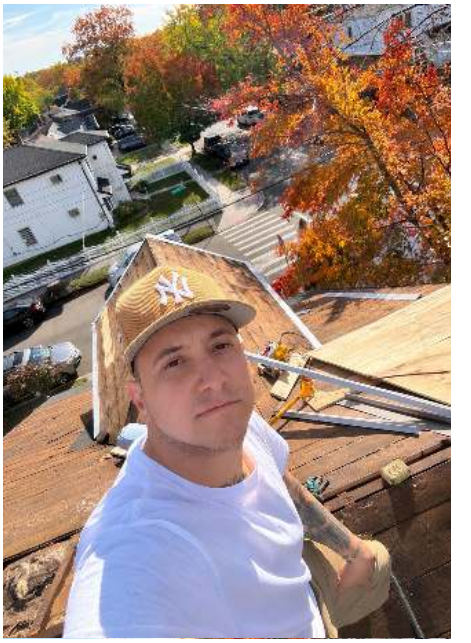

On the estimate. “Stavros walks every estimate himself, explains what he finds in plain language, and hands you a scope you can actually read: what comes off, what goes on, and why.”

On accountability. “He goes the extra mile because his name is on every roof. If a flashing detail is not right, it gets redone before the crew leaves.”

On after the job. “If a question comes up after the job, he picks up the phone.”

On the paperwork. “If a permit or a landmarks approval needs chasing, he chases it so you do not have to.”

On relationships. “REVMA is a dedicated roofing company committed to excellence, transparency, and long lasting relationships with our clients.”

Why it matters for your business

01

Write a scope people can read. A plain list of what comes off, what goes on and why prevents most disputes.

02

Say no when it is right. Telling a homeowner a product will not help them earns the job that does.

03

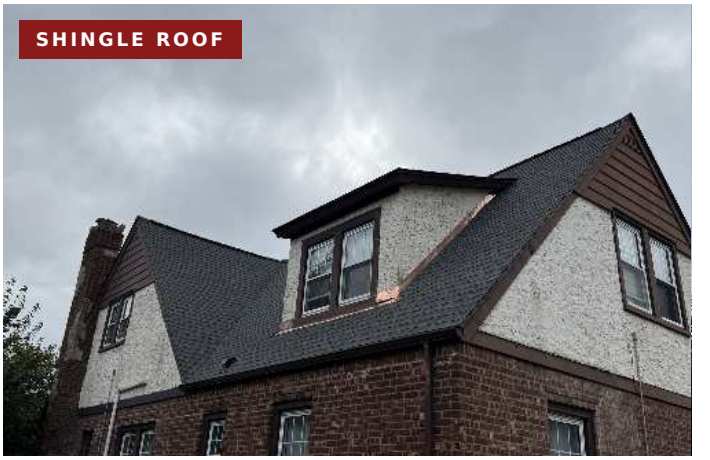

Redo it before you leave. Fixing a detail on the day costs less than a callback.

FEATURED CONTRACTOR · SIGNATURE PROJECT

Six Months, at the Customer’s Pace

David C. and his family wanted a new EPDM flat roof, he wrote in an August 2026 Google review, but the project took about six months from the first conversations to the start of work while they worked through design ideas and changes.

Throughout, he wrote, the REVMA team was extremely patient and never pushed the family to decide before they were ready. They stayed involved, answered questions and accommodated every design request.

When everything was final, REVMA installed the new EPDM system exactly as discussed, paying attention to the details. “There was never any pressure to rush into a decision just to get the job moving,” he wrote. Sandy P. described the same honesty: Stavros told her solar would not be a good fit for her house, then replaced her roof.

FEATURED CONTRACTOR · THE PLAYBOOK

How REVMA Runs It

Six habits behind a Queens roofer with a perfect 5.0 rating across 63 Google reviews.

1 Pick up the phone

Answer first and show up the same day.

“The only ones who actually picked up the phone.” Daniel L.

2 Show the materials

Walk the customer through costs and products.

“Showed me all the materials to be used.” Mary G.

3 Fix the real problem

Correct what is underneath, not just the surface.

“Instead of just putting a new roof on, corrected the issue.” Mary G.

4 Keep the appointment

Arrive when you said you would.

“He said he would be there at 1 and he was here at 1.” Kathleen C.

5 Send updates

Photos, texts and calls while the owner is away.

“Sending me detailed photos, text updates.” Daniel L.

6 Leave it spotless

Clean up as carefully as you build.

“They left everything spotless.” Yinette U.

FEATURED CONTRACTOR · COMMUNITY

On the Roof, Not Behind a Desk

REVMA is built around its owner. Customers describe Stavros Latos returning calls within minutes, coming out the same day and staying on site to keep the crew on schedule and up to his standards.

Kathleen C. wrote that when her older home turned up unexpected problems, Stavros stayed in contact and updated the family every day, even while waiting for masons to finish. Dominic H. wrote that the crew also repointed his brick and chimney and color-matched the mortar.

The crew earns its own praise. Joseph C. wrote that they arrived with “what seemed like a small army,” finished quickly and cleaned up very nicely, and Paula L. wrote that the crew on her Glen Cove roof and gutters was clean and respectful.

Customers sum it up the same way. “He does not cut any corners and explains all his reasons behind every aspect of the job,” Mary G. wrote. The company’s approach fits on one line:
